A DISTURBER OF THE PEACE.

THE REV. DR. KING CRITICISES THE SALE OF THE ST. PAUL'S M. E. CHURCH.

MEMBERS OF THE ST. ANDREW'S CONGREGATION FEAR THAT IT WILL INTERFERE WITH THEIR WORK-A STATEMENT

The Rev. Dr. James M. King, one of the former pastors of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, recently said: "The sale of the historic St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church, for many years at Twenty-se ond-st. and Fourth-ave., has (referring to Methodism in this city) caused demoralization, and, paradoxical as the statement may seem, has reinforced our weakness. Without assuming to pass judgment upon the wisdom of the transaction, it is the undisputed verdict of New-York Methodigm that it has put into the field a wanderer and disturber of the peace, because of the fear inspired that it would locate its large amount of money near some sister church, which had anticipated the needs of Methodism in a given locality and is struggling to do creditable work while bearing a necessary bur-"Such location would certainly put a p contributed by a former generation.

"A great confession of weakness is found in the fact that the historic church sold its building, situated in a locality where churches of three other Protestant denominations maintain a high tide of success in both attendance and aggressive work."

The members of St. Andrew's Methodist Episcopal Church, No. 129 West Seventy-sixth-st., have been greatly exercised for some time over the rumors that St. Paul's Church contemplated building within the territory aiready occupied by their church, and thus embarrass the work which they are doing in thus embarrass the work which they are doing in their present site.

In reference to the article in The Tribune of yesterday regarding the decision of the trustees of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church to select a site at Eighty-sixth-st, and West End-ave.. a reporter called upon the pastor and the trustees of St. Andrew's Church and found them unwilling to make a full statement as yet. They gave the following reasons for silence on the subject at present: "First—The exceedingly misleading character of 'the statement made by the trustees of St. Paul's C. urch of their side of the case in that it omits all reference to the conference hed between the two Boards of Trustees previous to the action taken by St. Paul's trustees concerning the possible union of the two churches. Secondly—The importance of the case to the people of St. Andrew's requires a plain and consecutive and historic statement of the entire unfortunate controversy."

"These statements," the pastor and trustees said to The Tribune reporter, "we will make over our signatures and agive to the public, that it may be ascertained whether the Methodist sentiment in this city is for or against what they believe to be an unjust and unbrotherly movement—the action of St. Paul's Church in selecting the site so near St. Andrew's."

PRESIDENT LOWS GIFT.

THE HENRY DRISLER CLASSICAL FUND ESTABLISHED AT COLUMBIA.

A $10,000 MEMORIAL FOR THE RETIRING DEAN

OF THE SCHOOL OF ARTS AND FORMER ACTING PRESIDENT.

At a meeting of the trustees of Columbia College on Monday, a general ground-plan for the new university buildings was approved. The architects are McKim, Mend & White. Plans for the buildings have not yet been made, the general char-acter and arrangement of the buildings only having been decided upon.

The following communication was received from President Seth Low:

territory unless stopped by the opponents."

Rule 20—To provide against kicking into touch or kick. off. The rule to read: "The ball shall be kicked off at the beginning of each half, and whenever a goal has been obtained, the side which has lost the goal shall kick off. If the ball go finto touch before it is touched by an opponent, it shall be brought back and kicked off over again. If it be kicked into touch a second time, it shall go as a kick-off to the opponents."

Rule 24—Section C. To prevent fouling the ball inside the opponents' ten-yard line. Rule to read: (c) "If a player, when off side, touch the ball inside the opponents ten-yard line, the ball shall go as a touchback to the opponents."

Rule 25—The expansion of the rule to make the meaning more clear. The rule to read: "No player shall lay his hands upon, or by the use of his hands or arms interfere with an opponent unless he, himself, or that opponents with the body only. But the players of the side which has not the ball can obstruct the opponents with the body only. But the players of the side which has not the ball can use the hands and arms as herestofere; that is, to push their opponents out of the way in breaking through when the ball is smapped."

Rule 20—Delays to be limited to three minutes and perfections of fouls to be increased from five yards to ten yards to be increased from five yards to ten yards to ten yards to ten yards to be increased from five yards to ten yards to be increased from five yards to ten yards to the possible him to the college. The propension of the ball is smapped."

Rule 20—Delays to be limited to three minutes and perfection of fouls to be increased from five yards to ten yards this fund with such mutual consideration as to make detailed regulations unnecessary. I am confident this will be the case so long as Professors Merriam and Peck are concerned. It should be understood, however, that in case of need the trustees are at liberty to make such regulations as to the division of the income between the departments as may seem to them proper, it being my wish, nevertheless, that the broadest possible latitude as to the use of the money be granted to each department consistent with my desire to make the instruction in the classics of Columbia College more interesting and more effective.

The trustees accented the sift by passing the following resolution:

Resolved, That the trustees accept with thanks the gift of President Low of 10,000 for the endowment of a fund to be known as "The Henry Drisler Classical Fund," and that the income of such fund be applied to the purchase of books, maps, charts, busts, and such other equipment as will tend to make instruction in the classics more interesting and effective, such income to be expended under the direction and upon the joint order of the heads of the departments of Greek and Latin, subject, however, to such regulations, if any, as the trustees may from time to time deem proper to adopt. following resolution:

THE LATEST TINKERING AT THE TARIFF.

As the measure stands it is a virtual acknowledgment on the part of the Democracy that it is unable to go to the country with a reasonable and fair system of revision. THE WILSON BILL PRACTICALLY REJECTED.

THE WILSON BILL PRACTISE.

Another new Tariff bill! Shades of William L. Wilson and Grover Cleveland, what is the Democracy trying to do? The Mills bill was not acceptable and the Wilson bill has practically been rejected, for no less than 400 amendments have already been made, and still there are more to follow.

The amendments to the Tariff bill, to which all but one Democratic Senator in the caucus last week promised allegiance, make practically a new bill. They form a measure which is further from fulfilling the piedges of the Chicago platform than either the Wilson or the first Senate bill.

The garden, which was elaborately decorated with flowers and flags, was filled to overflowing with a delighted audience, which, while listening to the music, was served with refreshments. Mr. Kramer came to New-York from Germany in 1854, and at the end of four years, having accumulated $25, he, with two others, who had each saved up a like amount, started small German concert garden on the site of the present spacious structure. He retired several years ago from active life, and the business has since then been managed by his sons, Albert and William, ir. POLITICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

PUBLICAN CLUB'S ROOMS.

The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was to have spoken last evening on "Municipal Reform" to the West Side Republican Club, in the Hotel Endicott, Eighty-second-st, and Columbus-ave. The big meeting-room was crowded, a good many women being in the audience. J. Edgar Leaycraft presided, and disappointed the large audience when he announced in opening the meeting that Dr. Parkhurst could not be present on account of the death of a mem-ber of his congregation, which obliged him to go to Connecticut. He introduced instead the Rev. Alfred E. Myers, associate pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church, who had worked with the City Vigilance Society, and who made a vigorous and telling speech. "There must be only one anti-Tammany candidate for Mayor this year," he asserted amid candidate for Mayor this year." he asserted amid applause. "Two anti-Tammany, candidates mean the perpetuation of the corrupt rule from which we are now suffering; while only one anti-Tammany candidate means the overthrow of that rule and a signal victory for good government." (Applause.)

S. S. Packard said that if they wanted good government they would have to work for it, and spoke about the man who had cast his eyes upon a turkey that did not belong to him and began to pray "Lord, send me that turkey." He didn't get it, so the next day he prayed "Lord, send me after that turkey." and his prayer was heard.

E. B. Hinsdale, chairman of the Committee on Political Reform of the Union League Club, said that he did not see what banking and the tariff and our foreign relations had to do with the government of this city. "I advocate," said he, "in State and National matters the highest type of Republicans for the offices; but when it comes to supporting a man for Mayor of this city I am anxious merely to find out whether he is honest or dishonest, principled or unprincipled, and how far these qualities are likely to govern his conduct if chosen to fill a public office." (Applause).

J. L. N. Hunt, Police Justice Taintor and others also spoke.

NO DISTRICT REPRESENTATION.

AFTER A LONG DISCUSSION, THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE IN BROOKLYN DE-CIDES NOT TO SUBSTITUTE IT FOR WARD REPRESENTATION.

An animated meeting was held by the Republican An animates meeting was to be country Committee in Brookiyn last evening, and it was decided at a late hour not to substitute district representation for ward representation in nominating conventions. Two propositions were submitted by the Committee on Rules and Order-one providing for district representation in all conventions and the other for district representation in all conventions save the city and county conventions. D. M. Hurley moved the adoption of the first proposition, which gave each delegate power to cast as many votes in a convention as his election district had cast for the Regublican ticket in the preceding election. John J. McGuinness moved an amendment to adopt the second proposition. Speeche were made by a number of members for and against election. John J. McGuinness moved an amendment to adopt the second proposition. Speeches were made by a number of members for and against both propositions.

Chairman B. F. Blair took the floor and explained what the Committee on Rules and Order had done to reach its conclusion. It was unanimous for direct district representation in all the nominating conventions, save the city and county conventions. As it had found that these conventions, on the same basis as the others, would make them consist of 1.70 or 1.500 members, and that such bodies would be unwieldy, there was a difference of opinion, and two aiternate propositions had been presented. Mr. Blair said he had first favored the second proposition, but after carefully considering the matter, he had come to the conclusion that the proposition to have one delegate from each election district, to represent all the voters in his district, was a wise and practical one. He therefore favored outling as much stress as possible upon the district association. This was a most important matter for consisteration, and action on it should be deliberate and without prejudice for the best interest of the party.

The amendment of Mr McGuinness was lost by a vote of 73 to 6. On the motion of Mr. Hurley, the vote was 15 to 21, but, as it falled to get a interest of the party.

A report was adopted from the Executive Committee providing for the enrolment of new members in the district association this month. It was voted to take steps to organize the election districts but the new Thirty-first ward, formerly the town of Gravesend.

The resignation of Frank Squier, Park Commissioner, as treasurer of the committee was accepted, and Norman S. Dike, Supervisor of the Pirst Ward, was elected to succeed him.

The first trouble was over the recognition of two nuxulary organizations to the People's party. One auxiliary organizations to the People's party. One of these was the Industrial Legion, organized in New-York and Brooklyn, and the other was the People's League, organized in the western part of the State. Chairman Dean was charged with "bossism," on the ground that he had packed the conference with members favorable to the upcountry organization, known as the People's League. E. T. Neben, National organizer of the Industrial Legion, was present, and took exceptions to Dean's methods and words. Neben openly charged Dean with having sold out the People's party in this State at the last election, and said he had proof that "Boss" Dean had been paid $1,000 by the Western sliver men to retard the progress of the party in New-York.

Dean became greatly excited, called Neben a secondrel and a liar and charged him with forgery. Neben retailsated in like language, and Chairman Dean threatened to call in the police. Two women who were present sought safety in flight. The meeting finally broke up at midnight after a four hours' session, in which no business was transacted.

Dean and Neben renewed their personal quarrel in the creet, and threatened each other with arrest to-day.

Its very nature makes it a party as tenacious as ignorance, as inevitable as evil, as immortal as sin. As long as knowledge only comes by intellectual labor, as long as it is easier to shirk than to work, as tong as passions are stronger than reason and the path to destruction is broad and wide, and easy to find, so long will the unchecked tendency of human nature normally create Democratic majorities. I would have every Republican feel as if upon his performance of his share of party duty depended the whole fate of the campaigh."

It was one of the most exciting in the history of the village, and resulted in a complete victory for the so-called reform element, which is made up of those dissatis-fied with the manner in which the finances of the fied with the manner in which the finances of the village have been conducted for several years. In the First Ward, David Verpianck, Assistant District-Attorney, was beaten for re-election by Samuel J. Barnes, the reform or citizens' candidate, by 35 in a total vote of 329. In the Second Ward, James Young was elected over Trustee F. H. Hepsels by 55 in a total vote of 355. In the Third Ward, E. B. Long had no opposition, and was indorsed by the Citizens' Committee. The Board now stands to 2 layer of reform. The feeling was bitter, and trouble was feared. The entire police force was on duty. The victors had a celebration last night, a procession headed by the White Piains Brass Band and the White Piains Drum Corps parading the streets. The four reform trustees, Mesers, Rehill, Long, Young and Barnes, were in a carriage and were followed by 1,200 people.

AGGRESSIVE PLAY AND SHARP FIGHTING MARKED THE CONTEST-A LARGE ATTEND-ANCE AT THE GAME-LASKER STILL

Montreal, May 8.-The fourteenth game of their match for the championship of the world and $2,000 a side was contested between W. Steinitz and Emanuel Lasker at the Cosmopolitan Club in the presence of a large assemblage of spectators this afternoon, when the champion opened the game with P-Q 4, which lead to a regular Queen's Gambit declined.

The game was differently played than in similar openings in previous games of the match, as both players castled early in the opening, at the seventh

After this Steinitz began the attack by means of P-K 4, a move which led to a series of exchanges. Then White threatened by placing his Queen and Bishop on the diagonal toward his adversary's King's Rook's second square. This made Lasker desperate. He pushed all his Pawns on the King's and after Steinitz chopped the Q B P, Black was and after Steinitz chopped the Q B P. Binck was obliged to offer a sacrifice of a Bishop. Exchange of Queens followed, and White came out of the fight with King, Rook, Bishop and six Pawns to Lasker's King, two Rooks and two Pawns.

The game stood adjourned after twenty-nine moves, Lasker having scaled his twenty-ninh move. The position, from a theoretical point of view, looked a sure win for Steinitz, as the advantage of three passed Pawns, supported by Rook and Bishop, should lead to a victory. Both players showed great determination and good fighting qualities.

When play was resumed after luncheon Lasker had a difficult task before him, and although he struggled on gamely he could not prevent the threatened march of the passed pawns, and when Steinitz was about to queen Lasker resigned.

The score now reads: Lasker, 7; Steinitz, 4;

After Black's eleventh move: Although this advance weakens the K P, it passes the way for a strong attack on the King's wing. After White's eighteenth move: White has skilfully prehis position would have been excellent.

After White's twenty-second move. The combination selected in the text is by far superior to the alternative 22. K-Q, because there might follow P x P.

After Black's twenty-first move: This seems the only move to prevent White from playing P-Q 5.

After Black's twenty-seventh move: By far superior to R-K. White could hardly then have taken the K R P on acount of the close confinement of his King, and if Black can force the entrance of his rooks into the energy's carmy it would be at least very difficult to avoid
